YEARBOOK DEDICATION

Reflecting upon the multitude of successes that this class has wrought, one will remember above all, those who stood by us; Those who listened to our complaints and made suggestions; Those who let us lead ourselves through toil and trouble.

We the class of 1998 would like to dedicate this yearbook to Mr. Cezus and Mrs. Bowman, our class advisors, and also Mr. Forlini, a member of our guidance office and a dedicated class friend. Through her silent leadership, Mrs. Bowman has guided us down the right pathways, helping us as only she can, to grow stronger as adults and together as a class. To Mr. Cezus, who welcomes everyone's opinions and whose door almost fell off its hinges from our daily use, and also, to Mr. Forlini, who guided and comforted us, we bid a fond farewell. To all, we thank you for the encouragement and support you have given us.

Class of 1998 History

The class of 1998 entered the airport in the fall of 1994. We waited patiently until our flight was called and we boarded the plane. We took our seats; and as we traveled down the runway, we were assured by our advisors, Mr. Cezus and Mrs. Bowman, that the flight would not be steady at all times, but we would make it through all right. At the controls were Pho Phimvongsa, Andrew Szymanski, Jason Messina, Kori Meacham, Rose Zaugg and Melissa Dubai. To pass the time, the passengers decorated their aisles Black and Gold to promote spirit and unity. We also served a luncheon to the flight crew on board the plane.

As we reached our cruising altitude, the pilots, Pho Phimvongsa, Erica Lucas, Jason Messina, Kori Meacham, Kristen Russell and Melissa Dubai announced that we would be arriving shortly at Balfour for our choice of rings. To pass the time, the crew arranged a semi-formal dance which was open to all passengers. Once again, to show our appreciation, we served the flight crew a luncheon.

As we traversed the half-way point of our journey, we experienced a short period of turbulence over the Junior Prom. Erica Lucas, Mike Page, Jason Messina, Alyssa Szymanski, Jennifer Nilsson and Andrea Sullivan steered us through this rough area. As we approached Adam's Mill, the passengers looked towards the sky with "Angel Eyes" and voted Betsy Arnold and Matt Person the Prom Queen and King. As we began our final approach, we realized that the trip we thought would last forever was now almost complete.

Upon our descent, we began to plan our final events. The first, our magazine drive, passed over us slowly, but in the end was a great success. Robert Rybick, Ron Floyd, Jason Messina, Eileen Roehl, Alyssa Szymanski, Christine Myers and Melissa Dubai landed our plane successfully. Upon arrival at Bradley International Airport, we celebrated our fondest memories at the Sheraton. We had one last assembly at the High Meadows Terminal. After we gathered our baggage at the claim check marked "Graduation," we said our farewells. We boarded our connecting flights and moved on to the future, while never forgetting the past . . .

My favorite quote, "The road to success is always under construction." You have to work hard. I hope everyone has a good life. Don't party too hard in college. I hope that in the future I have an excellent career in whatever I want to do. These past few years have been fun, but now it's time for business, and no regrets, so work hard and get what you want. See you all later.

Prophecy

In 20 years,

Betsy Arnold will be living at the beach, married to a handsome stud, and still going to UConn on the weekends.

Samer Aziz will be happily married with three kids, doing something computer related, living far far away from East Windsor, and still passing out candy in Advanced Biology.

Jenni Barber will be happily married to Joey Barone, while coaching her gymnastics team, and her hair will be down to her knees.

Kara Beaudet will be having fun, wherever life takes her.

Cecilia Bernard will be living in an apartment with her boyfriend in Stockholm, Sweden, without any kids, but will have a good job.

Ben Burnham will be in the badlands of Montana, unearthing a Tyrannosaurus Rex, and still be the youngest guy.

Melonie Cerrato will still be working at Revay's as "Teddy the Talking Tree" and still be trying to figure out a way to sneak out of her house without setting off the alarm.

Julie Cresenzi will be making millions singing the "Little Mermaid" for Walt Disney and still trying to comb out the clumps of dough in her hair.

Erin Crowley will be married to Justin Dube with two kids and working as a phlebotomist at Saint Francis.

Rich D'Attilio will be in jail for blowing up the East Windsor Police Department and waiting for a visit from his one true love.

Corey Davis will be bringing the miscreants of society to justice, putting out infernos, and driving a meat wagon around as a volunteer EMT.

Meg DesRocher will be a famous writer, married to John, and will still be calling Peaches and Pier 1.

Andrew DiFiore will be married to a woman he loves dearly, a best-selling author, playing in a straight-edge hard-core band, liberating animals, saving the earth, and still wearing safety pins in his clothes.

Rachel DiFiore will be happily married with three kids, teaching kids and old people how to sing, and making it big as a karaoke singer in her spare time.

Melissa Dubay will be an FBI agent married to somebody rich, living on a mountain with two children, and still arguing with Marc over every little thing.

Elizabeth Eckel will have finally learned how to read and add, but that won't matter since she'll be driving her BMW Z3 roadster.

Wayne Farrell will be married to Kimberly Alzak, living in a big country house with lots of land, a little boy, and lots of animals.

Ken Fila will be living with Sarah in a van in Jackson Hole.

Ron Floyd will still be smashing pumpkins, the leader of KΦΩ, and having a successful life with a wife and kids.

Nadir Garvey will be living in a mansion on none other than "Prospect Hill," chillin' between wives with three bad little kids, a million dollars, and a broken room door.

Janelle Goldreyer will be an anthropology professor and taking vacations to Africa to study its wildlife with her husband and three children.

Nathaniel Hanrahan will be happily, but not faithfully, married to his mountain bike of 10 years.

Hewitt Haynes will be on T.V. as a major money maker, deadly lyricist with acting skills that pay bills of my mills-check the credentials.

Shannon Holigan will still be asking everyone what she should have put as her prophecy.

Wahied Jerjies will be a famous star in any field that he chooses and with a wife and children that he promises will never have to labor in their lives.

Peter Koumlelis will be successful and still have the loudest mouth.

Freddy Kaczor will be a Literature professor at a prestigious university, happily married with one child, whom he hopes ends up growing up content.

Jennifer Letourneau will be happily married with three kids and still living in Broad Brook.

Amanda Loos will be living in a penthouse in New York and shopping on the boulevards with her friends.

Erica Lucas will be happily married to her one true love, raising her two children while she practices physical therapy, and teaching dance in her spare time.

Greg Madore will be married, accomplishing all his goals and dreams, and still be keeping in touch with pookie 1, 3, and 4.

Naomi "Naz" Mansfield will still be calling Marinda for a ride, be married to a Muslim hottie living on the west side driving her Benz to work tobacco with Alyssa, Andrew, and Julie, and still smiling.

Loren Marozas will be touring Broadway, performing as "Bubbles" in the hit comedy, "Cheerleaders Rock," which he wrote five years prior.

Pete Mastrangelo will still be working at the laundromat and driving his Comanche SS.

Rich Mather will be the front end manager at Geissler's Supermarket, and still calling Tom "Fat Kid."

Kori Meacham will be happily married to the man of her dreams, still driving the Topaz with the tractor light, and still shopping with Amanda.

Jason Messina will be happily married with at least one son, making a lot of money as house council for the mob and still begging his brother to use the car.

Christine Myers will be successful at whatever she does, happily married to GQ's number one model with three beautiful children, and still trying to figure out a way to stay out past 11:00 pm.

Thomas Nai will be living it up in Vermont with his chocolate lab, two boys and a beautiful wife, and still driving his Monte Carlo.

Jennifer Nilsson will be happily married with three perfect kids and making a living selling lotto tickets on the black market from the trunk of the Lexus.

Sean Norton will be a world renowned psychologist, married to the love of his life with two children, and still calling everyone to help him with a problem he is having.

Mike Page will be waiting until the last minute to procrastinate, spending all of his money on Jen, and opening the first official "el banco internationale de Roberto."

Natasha Perez will be a world known photographer for National Geographic, traveling to exciting new places, learning about exciting new cultures and taking pictures the whole way through.

Matt Person will be happily married, have two kids, still snowmobiling on the John Deere and will have broken the 5,000 meter world record.

Pho Phimvongsa will be in his own meeting, wearing shorts and a tanktop during the winter time, with his arms folded and feet on the table, and with absolute pleasure, looking on as Bill Gates is applying to work for him.

Thomas Post will be living in southern, sunny California, married with a kid or two, living a relaxed life as a member of an elite government top secret strike force.

Sarah Rajala will be the life of the asylum Christmas party.

Marinda Reynolds will still be driving Naomi to school everyday, will be successful in whatever she decides to do, playing in the WNBA in her spare time, be married and have kids, if she feels like it, and still be mumbling all the time!

Kristen Russell will be manager of her own Lechter's and still pushing the "Item of the Week."

Robert Rybick will still be carrying a black attache case, only now, he will have it full of lucrative business deals instead of senior superlatives.

Heather Schmeck will be a world renowned surgeon and own the Shell Gas Station located on Bridge Street.

Nicole Scioscio will be a bum living off Rich's money and still trying to figure out what she wants to do in life.

Kelly Slosek will still be riding for Burton Snowboards, divorced from Jamie Lynn, running her own graphic advertisement firm with Brian, and still raving it up!

Joshua Smith will be livin' north and married to a beautiful woman with three little hims runnin' around.

Andrea Sullivan will be selling fine jewelry from the back of her party wagon with a smile on her face and everything in her pocket.

Alyssa Szymanski will still be working tobacco at Mulnite Farms with Andrew, Naomi, and Julie, be married to a hottie with four kids, still brushing the chunks of dough out of her hair, and still mowing the lawn.

Andrew Szymanski will be married to a supermodel with two kids, making millions as a sports agent, playing the violin, and staying too sweet!

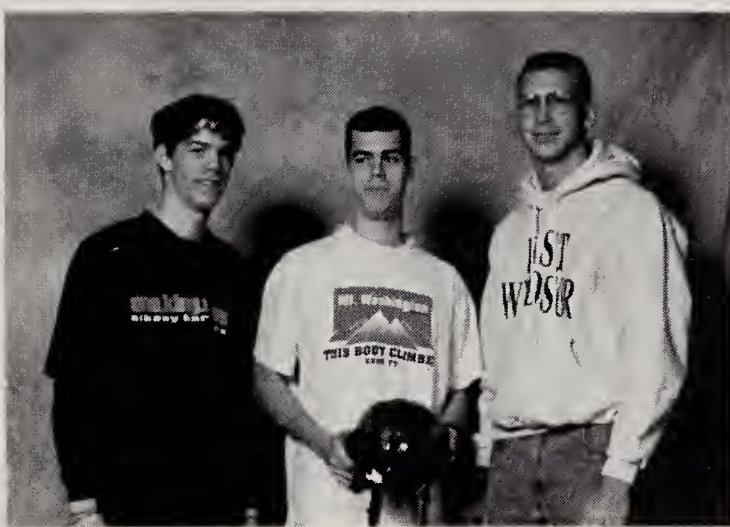

Amy Veilleux will be happily married, a successful kindergarten teacher, and still waiting to make an appointment for her driver's license.

Michael Wyse will own all the Battiston's stores and will have been on the cover of Rolling Stones Magazine while managing a Subway.

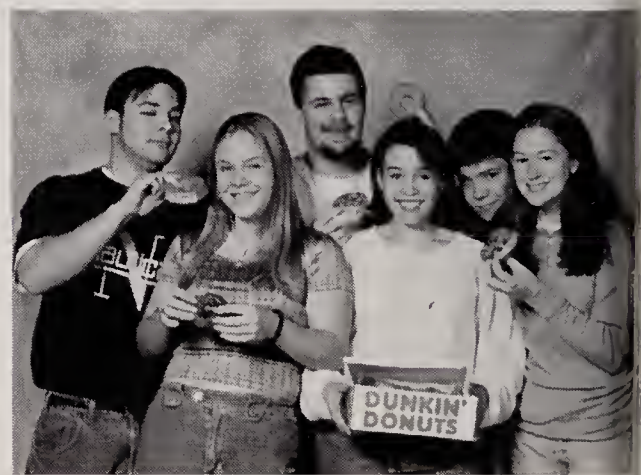

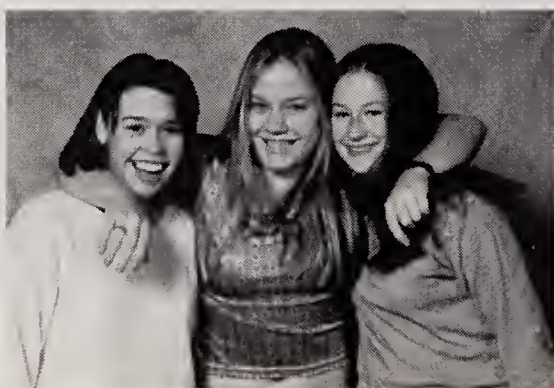

Rich York will be married to Nicole, playing pro baseball, and driving a pimped out Beretta.

Sarah Zetterstrom "I don't know!"

Janelle Goldreyer

For the most part working on yearbook is great. Being editor requires a lot of patience and time, but I think it's worth it. It takes a lot of work to put together something this detailed, but when everything is done, we can enjoy the final product and take pride in our work. The other members are terrific to work with, and are always ready to help out. I have learned a lot about myself and my abilities because of yearbook. Archive is one of the best organizations of this school and I would recommend that everyone be a part in making this memorable book.

Kara Beaudet

First, I would like to thank the advisors and officers of the yearbook staff for their dedication. Without their hard work and organization, this yearbook would not be possible. My yearbook staff experience has been one of mixed emotions. The time constraints and lack of communication made our task very frustrating. However, the rewards of being on this committee were priceless. There was no better feeling than knowing that I had a part in the completion of a book of memories that will be shared throughout time.

Corey Davis

When I joined yearbook at the beginning of the year, I did not realize how much work my position would entail. I created most of the collage pages of the yearbook this year and have spent much of my free time putting them together. I would have to say that I had a great deal of fun doing it. I am proud to be part of this year's biggest school publication and perhaps the best yearbook this school has seen.

Sarah Humphries

Being a part of the yearbook has been both a fulfilling and enjoyable experience for me during the past two years, but it has brought difficult new responsibilities as well. Meeting the deadlines is possibly the hardest thing to do in this organization, next to finding the time to complete the many tasks involved. However, the overall sense of accomplishment when the yearbook is finished makes it all worth it.

Loren Marozas

Working on yearbook can sometimes be very difficult. It takes time and patience in order to complete the many necessary tasks needed to finish the yearbook. Yet, the end product made it well worth the effort. The dedication and hard work invested in this has given me the experience and confidence that I know will serve me well later in life.

Sarah Rajala

I have had a lot of fun working on the yearbook this year. Things went a lot smoother than in the past because more people were here to take up the weight. A lot of work, a lot of patience, and a lot of compromise go into something like a yearbook. I feel everyone involved this year really got into it. Our job was to create something the senior class can turn to in years to come and know we've done a great job with both creativity and cooperation.

Eileen Roehl

I am glad I had a chance to participate in yearbook. Being on yearbook was fun, but it also took hard work and commitment. I appreciated the chance to be able to work with an experienced staff and wonderful advisors, that helped me complete my sections. I especially enjoyed it, because the entire school gets to see what we have accomplished.

Joe Niejako, Jr.

Yearbook is an interesting organization and I was glad to be a part of it. There were many difficult tasks that I was assigned such as cropping photos, laying out pages, and running around with photographers.

Amanda Opalacz

It was great to participate in the production of the yearbook. Being part of any group is rewarding, as well as fun. At times it was difficult making deadlines, but we always came through. Dedication and hard work is necessary. Seeing our results is the most rewarding aspect. Next year, I hope to work with a group of people who are just as much fun as this year's.

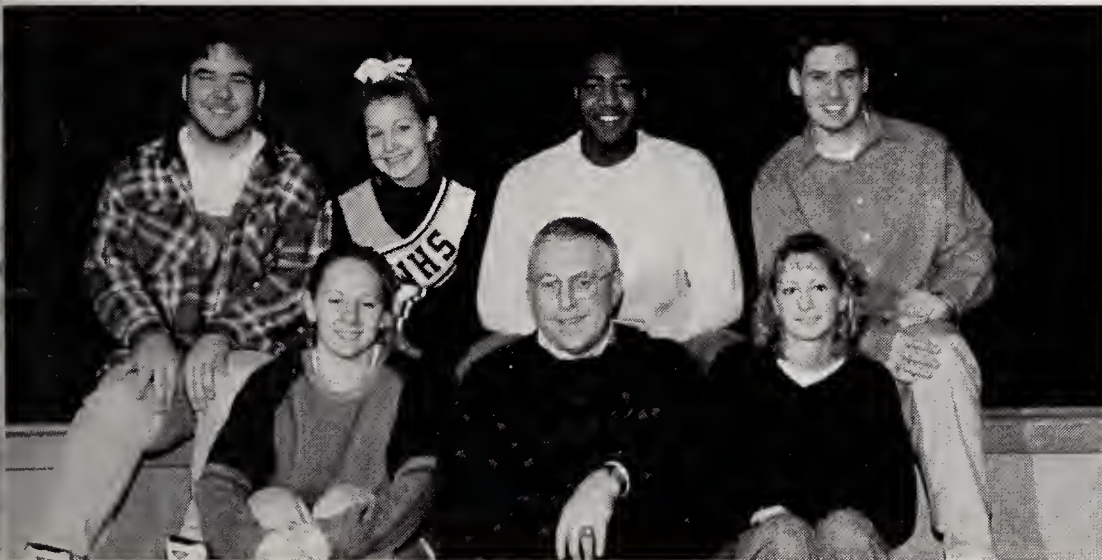

Student Council

Advisor: Mr. Harrigan

Student Council provides for student participation in school government, establishes a better understanding between the administration, faculty, and students, and affords training and citizenship by exercising rights and meeting responsibilities.

Student Council Officers

Renaissance Club

Advisor: Mr. Bravakis

Renaissance is a national program which promotes academic excellence, student activities, and behaviors which lead to success in school and reinforce a positive work ethic. Renaissance is a process where all parts of the East Windsor Community work together. Renaissance is a program that provides tangible rewards for attaining the program's goals.

Sophomore Executive Board

Advisor: Ms. Gilson

The Sophomore Executive Board is a group of dedicated students who oversee a variety of activities offered during the sophomore year. The activities include fund raisers, dances, and bake sales that benefit the Class of 2000. During the sophomore year, Balfour Ring Company offers their selection of rings for student consideration. A semi-formal dance is held in the spring to celebrate the distribution of the rings.

Panther TV

Advisor: Mr. Anderson

High school students with an interest in broadcast journalism can become involved with Panther TV. Members of each class produce and present a live telecast of daily announcements for both the student body and staff. These shows are viewed over the school's Channel One television network each morning during homeroom. The crew of PTV are not only responsible for reading the news of the day, but they are also given the chance to learn about the technical production work that goes on behind the scene.

Freshman Executive Board

Advisor: Mrs. Lassow

The Freshman Executive Board is extremely important. We have the responsibilities of deciding what activities and fund raisers should take place during the year. These activities and fund raisers offset the cost of trips and activities offered to the freshman class, as well as deferring the costs of graduation in 2001. We work very hard to make the activities offered as interesting as possible, hoping to involve as many freshmen as possible.

Time Capsule Committee

The Time Capsule Committee collected various articles reflecting East Windsor's American culture in the year of 1997. These items were buried on November 16, 1997 to commemorate the dedication of the new addition to the East Windsor Junior/Senior High School, The capsule will be opened in the year 2002.

National Honor Society

Advisor: Ms. Drake

*Life seems so like that bit of string;
Each deed we do a simple thing;
Yet day by day is on life's strand;
We work with patient heart and hand;
It gathers joy, makes dark days bright;
And gives us at least a lovely light.*

Chorus

Advisor: Ms. Smiley

High School Chorus is a performance oriented class designed to develop and perfect choral performance techniques learned at the Jr. High or Middle School level. Students will develop their musical literacy skills and improve their interpretation of choral/vocal music. Performance techniques covered include: stage presence and decorum, movement, and use of sound equipment and lighting from a performance perspective. This year's High School Chorus is working on many advanced and entertaining pieces. Our annual events include winter and spring concerts, a trip to the Enfield Mall, and caroling around our school for the holiday season. This fall, our performance highlight was a Cabaret Night, featuring individual performers and a lovely dinner.

NCCC Chorus

NCCC Chorus consists of a selected group of twelve talented singers from the EWHS chorus to perform yearly at the NCCC Concert. The NCCC Concert is held at a different member school each year. This year the performance was held at Windsor Locks High School. East Windsor High School will host the event in November, 1998.

NCCC Band

Every year members of the concert band are chosen to participate in the NCCC festival that includes members of all the bands in the NCCC conference. These students are required to prepare several selections of music prior to rehearsal and present a concert at one of the conference schools.

Band

Advisor: Mr. Skouty

The Concert Band is composed of members from the freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior classes. The band participated in numerous parades throughout the year and completed at a festival in Virginia Beach in April. The band also performs in several concerts throughout the school year, including the winter, spring, and all-town band concerts. The music performed ranges from standard concert band repertoire to popular music. The marching band and pep band are comprised of members of the concert band.

Leo Club

Advisor: Mr. O'Konis

The East Windsor High School Leo Club is a national junior division of the Lions Club. Our goal is to integrate high school students into their community through volunteer service. During the 1997/1998 school year, the club's membership topped forty students from grades seven to twelve. Our activities included working at the State Receiving Home and bell ringing for the Salvation Army during the holiday season. Each month, the organization participates in at least one volunteer activity.
